ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Hopkinsville Likely to Be Made Headquarters.

Preparations on a mammoth scale have been completed for the celebration at Guthrie today of the first anniversary of the Dark Tobacco District Association.

The members of the Association who have charge of the arrangements have bought 250 carcasses—hogs, sheep and Reeves—to feed the crowd of nearly 10,000 which, it is estimated, will be here. The carcasses will be cooked over a pit 500 feet in length, and throughout tomorrow night, before the celebration, the barbecuing will go under the supervision of experts. The 3,000 loaves of bread which have been ordered will be re-enforced by beaten biscuits and "salt-rising" bread that housewives have been baking during the past week. Not only will there be barbecue in great abundance for all that come, but every family that attends will bring a well filled basket of home-cooked provisions.

The celebration will be held at the fair grounds, where, just a year ago the farmers met and formed the organization. Officers will be elected and speakers from Tennessee and Kentucky will address the crowd. Among those who will speak are Ollie James, A. O. Stanley, Joe Washington, who recently withdrew from the race for the governorship of Tennessee; John Wesley Gaines and Joel E. Fort.

The central figure of the great meeting, however, will be Felix G. Ewing, the man who conceived the organization and who has been the leader in the fight for higher prices for tobacco. Mr. Ewing is chairman of the executive committee of the association, and in that position has directed the campaign of the farmers. He will undoubtedly be re-elected to succeed himself.

At the meeting one of the most important points which will be discussed will be the probable future market for association tobacco. As the farmers control practically the entire crop of tobacco in the "Black Patch," this is a question of great importance. The change has been made necessary because of the refusal of Joseph Ferigo, the Italian buyer, to go to Clarksville, which has been the tobacco center of Southern Kentucky and Tennessee since tobacco has been raised in this section. Mr. Ferigo's action was due to a controversy between the board of trade of Clarksville and the farmers' association. Feeling against Clarksville has been high for months, and it is probable that a change of the market from there to Hopkinsville will be decided upon.

Ten-Year Lease Taken on the Garnett Big Building.

The only vacant store room on Main street, the Garnett building, corner of main and Eighth streets, has, we learn, been leased for a term of ten years. It is to be increased in length, heated by steam or a hot air furnace, materially changed in many ways and used as a large department store. The company that has secured the building has a number of stores in different parts of the United States and is rated up in the millions.

COURTNEY REFUSED BAIL

Will Await Action Of The Grand Jury Next Week.

SON SAW THE SAW.

Two Of The Jurymen Give
Testimony Of The Nature
Of The Wounds.

The county court room was filled yesterday morning when Judge Fowler had James Courtney, who killed John C. Davis, brought before him to hear his attorneys on a motion for bail pending the meeting of the grand jury next Monday.

Previously the attorneys for the defense and the county attorney were of the opinion that the defendant was entitled to bail, and the only thing to be settled was what was to be the amount of the bond. After the agreement the county attorney had discovered evidence, which in his opinion, would render the case unobtainable. The defense stated that they did not desire to introduce any witnesses. The commonwealth then introduced Howard Duvall, who was foreman of the coroner's jury, in whose verdict it was stated that Davis had been shot in the back, as well as in the right hand, near the breast and abdomen.

It was proven by Chas. B. Meacham, who prepared Davis' body for burial, that in his opinion either of the two shots would have caused death. He stated that he picked one of the shots out of Davis' body and it was No. 6. A son of the dead man was introduced, who stated that the saw, found within ten or twelve feet of where Davis was lying after being shot, belonged to his father, and that his father had taken the saw from the barn before the killing.

In the opening of the case Messrs.

C. H. Bush and John Feland, attorneys for Courtney, stated that they waived an examination and would not introduce any witnesses. After argument by both sides Judge Fowler refused to admit Courtney to bail and he was remanded to jail to await action by the grand jury. Circuit Court convenes next Monday and should an indictment be returned against Courtney for murder or homicide it is uncertain whether the case can be tried at the approaching term.

LATHAM MAUSOLEUM.

Material Has Arrived And Is Ready for Putting Up.

Mr. John C. Latham, of New York, recently bought a lot in Hopewell Cemetery and will erect upon it a mausoleum to cost $25,000. The stone for it was received from New York Thursday ready to be put together and is being taken to the cemetery as rapidly as it can be handled, some of the pieces being very heavy. One hauled out Thursday weighed 25,000 pounds. Mr. Hood, an experienced marble man from New York, came with the shipment and will put it together. The mausoleum will be very handsome and an ornament to the cemetery.
